

OUR GLOBAL SOLUTION FOR DISTANCE SELLER TAKEBACK OBLIGATIONS

Improving the experience of online sellers and their customers

When selling a new electrical and electronic device, distant sellers are responsible for taking back an equivalent end-of-life device free of charge from their customers (on a one-to-one, like-for-like basis). This obligation arising from the WEEE Directive is transposed differently in each country, hampering the development of a harmonised solution.

Our One2One service offers distance sellers and their customers a simple platform to comply with WEEE takeback obligations in 25+ countries.

A comprehensive takeback solution for WEEE

One2One is a comprehensive solution for the takeback of WEEE.

One2One allows for quick expansion to different countries and regions to follow the market growth of distance sellers.

The service creates the possibility for higher engagement with end-users and it raises the profile of the brand and its commitment to sustainability.

How does it work?

Customer benefits

One2One includes the following features:

- Friendly web-based interface for end-users to request the return of end-of-life devices
- Smooth pick-up process
- Single point of contact for global takeback operations
- Fully compliant logistics and recycling network in each country
- Choice of product plans to suit different customer segments and requirements
